

Online Digital Designer

This is your opportunity to make your influence felt in one of the world's leading mobile telecommunications companies.

You will be managing the delivery of exceptional creative design across the main website, related satellite sites and stores. Your focus is to ensure the best online experience possible and we'll look to you to proactively identify content and functionality enhancements. Your background will preferably have included hands-on experience with a key commercial website, ideally combining B2C and B2B content. Experience with Macromedia Flash is a must, together with strong project management skills and the ability to work in a cross-functional, multi-site team. Above all, your success will depend on a real passion for the internet combined with a truly creative flair.
